Fidelity National Financial, Inc.'s ("FNF") FNF Group 2nd Quarter 2017 Earnings Conference Call Script —

Management Discussion

William P. Foley, II, Non-Executive Chairman, FNF

We made significant progress in the Black Knight distribution during the second quarter with several milestones achieved. We announced the receipt of a private letter ruling on May 10, signed a formal agreement with Black Knight on June 8, filed the preliminary registration statements on Forms S-4 and S-1 with the SEC on June 13 and June 21, respectively. We received comments from the SEC on July 10 and filed amendment number one to Forms S-1 and S-4 with the SEC on July 18. Once the SEC declares the registration statements on Forms S-1 and S-4 effectively, we can mail the proxy to shareholders and then have the shareholder vote at the earliest 20 business days after the mailing. We still expect a third quarter closing for the Black Knight distribution.

Finally, we made significant progress on the FNFV exchange during the second quarter with several milestones achieved. We announced the receipt of a private letter ruling on May 10, filed preliminary Registration Statement on Form S-4 with the SEC on May 11, received comments from the SEC on June 6, and responded to those comments on June 22. We are continuing to work through the SEC review and are in the process of responding to additional comments received on July 14. Once the SEC declares the Registration Statement on S-4 effective, we can mail the proxy to our shareholders and then have our shareholder vote, at the earliest, twenty business days after the mailing. We still expect a late third quarter closing for the exchange of FNFV tracking stock for the new Cannae Holdings common stock that we plan to have traded on the NYSE, under the ticker symbol CNNE.

FNFV 2nd Quarter 2017 Earnings Call Question and Answer

Question: Ryan Warren

Forgive me if you touched on this because I joined a little late. But you had previously mentioned the possibility of selling a 10% stake to both FNF and TH Lee. I was wondering if you could up-to-date — bring us up-to-date on sort of your thoughts around that or any other equity sales. And just secondly, going forward, Bill, you got a lot on your plate with hockey and with CF Corp. And I'm just wondering if you're going to be spending a reasonable amount of time on the FNF vehicle going forward? And if there are any conflicts in terms of where deals go when you find them?

Answer: William P. Foley, II, Non-Executive Chairman, FNF

No conflicts on where deals go. FNFV has a very specific strategy. I recently retired or resigned from the FIS board, so that's freed up a little bit of time. I'm looking at some other situations that I'm involved in to remove myself from those particular boards or companies. So I'm going to be spending time on CF Corp which is kind of a single investment, fairly simple annuity and universal life company with a large investor portfolio. And then FNFV is now headquartered in Las Vegas which is where I spend a good piece of my time. And I'm pretty active in FNFV. I'm just Chairman of FNF. I'm involved but the business is run by Randy, Mike and Tony. And Black Knight, of course, is being spun off. And I'm still involved with Black Knight, but it's become more of a maintenance situation. So that's kind of my philosophy. I am spending a lot of time on hockey, though, it's very important. We need to win that Stanley Cup.

Question: Ryan Warren

Well, good luck with that. And just on — the other question relating to the 10% stake for FNF or TH Lee. Could you bring us up-to-date on your thoughts there?

Answer: Brent B. Bickett, Executive Vice President, FNF

The thoughts are to try to get our cash up to a level that we could execute on the investment program that we want to do, to be able to buy 3 or 4 platform companies that would have — give us the capacity to do some add-on deals. So we have just over $350 million of cash and we'd like to have, candidly, more, around $600 million or so that we feel would be comfortable once we separate from FNF. So we have all the approvals necessary, at least internally, to make those investments. But more details will come as we approach the end of the third quarter.
